
1984 POST

We Cannot Tell a Lie . . .

The Continental Spirit is still alive and well at Washington High School — even George Washington came back to attend classes and participate in school activities. Our principal, Mr. Rosenberger, was very glad to see George again as well as Mr. Badgley's Advanced Mathematics class.

George had some problems coping with the modern luxuries such as buses, lockers, computers. But it's quite obvious that Washington High School must be a great place when THE George Washington — the first Continental — pays us a visit.

We cannot tell a lie . . . we are great in our classes, jobs, sports, and activities.

We cannot tell a lie . . . we are Continentals!

Yes, it's time

We know, we can't tell a lie; it's time to get down to the business of school and studies. But maybe just a few more minutes before getting serious. Students Joe Ford and Patty Wilson take their break in the hall, while Dawn Blanchard stops off in the Quest office. And teachers Darlene Johnston, Helen Cook, Reba Ensor, Richard Hanley relax before beginning their classes.

May is for Seniors

The class of 1983 graduated last spring, but they took with them memories which they will cherish for the rest of their lives — memories that future seniors will also possess. The seniors of 1984 look forward to their May Queen and Awards Day. And though the 1984 Prom won't be "An Enchanted Evening" like last year's, it will be a night to remember. And finally, it's the moment of truth — Graduation. This year's seniors hope they will be ready.

Finding the spirit again

Through pep sessions and assemblies like the annual introduction of the fall athletes and the symphony visit, Continentals get to join together again. We can cheer on our teams and coaches, and we can enjoy lovely music.

We cannot tell a lie. We like being together.

Homecoming win was no lie

Coach Springer's Continentals pushed their season record to 7-0 with a 28-6 smash of the Ben Davis Giants for a great 1983 Homecoming. Queen Heidi Thomas and King David Hammond led the rest of the court and the crowd in cheering the team to victory.

Homecoming spirit was everywhere

We cannot tell a lie. All the door decorations, floats, and cheers said we would whip the Ben Davis Giants. Coach Springer and the team promised another victory. The promise was kept.

The October 30th Homecoming was a perfect evening for both a football game and for the annual festivities. The Science Club had the most impressive float with a large "giant" being massacred by the Continentals. The Art Club and the Freedoms Foundation also participated in the half-time parade. The band provided its usual rousing rhythm.

The underclass Homecoming royalty consisted of juniors Nathalie Wood and John Butler, sophomores Donna Rose and James Day, and freshmen Dawn Highbaugh and Danny Harris.

Top: Senior Charita Bostic gives her beautiful smile. Bottom: Mrs. Harolyn Torain pauses for a moment in her grading.

Let's face it

We cannot tell a lie . . . we're beautiful. Continentals just naturally smile and look good at any time — especially when we're at school working for a common goal.

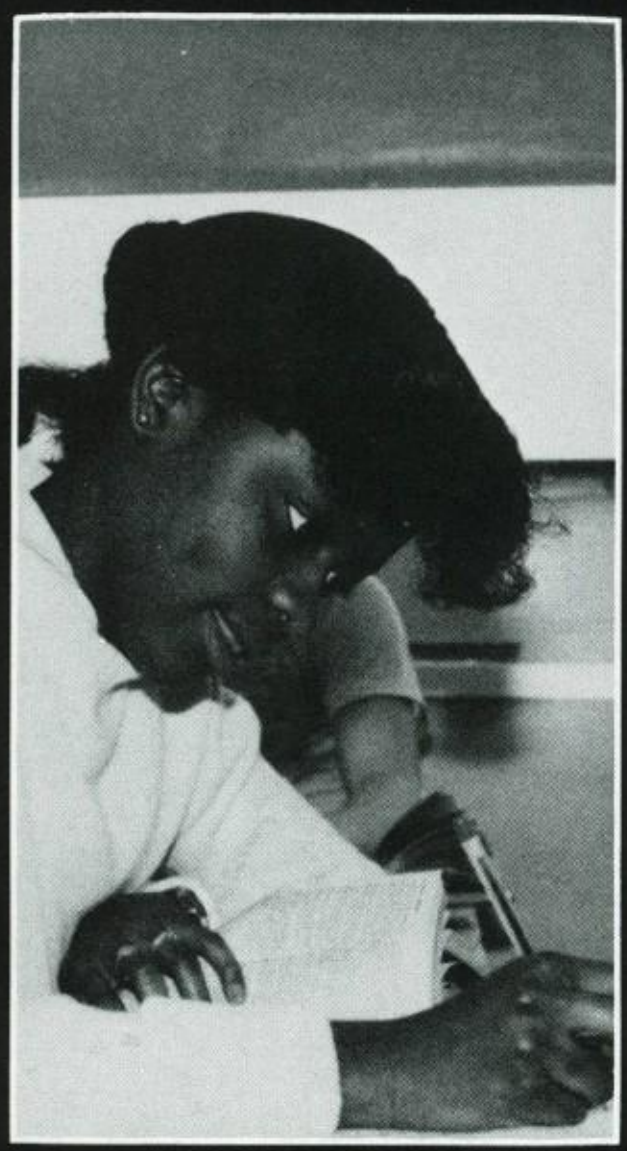
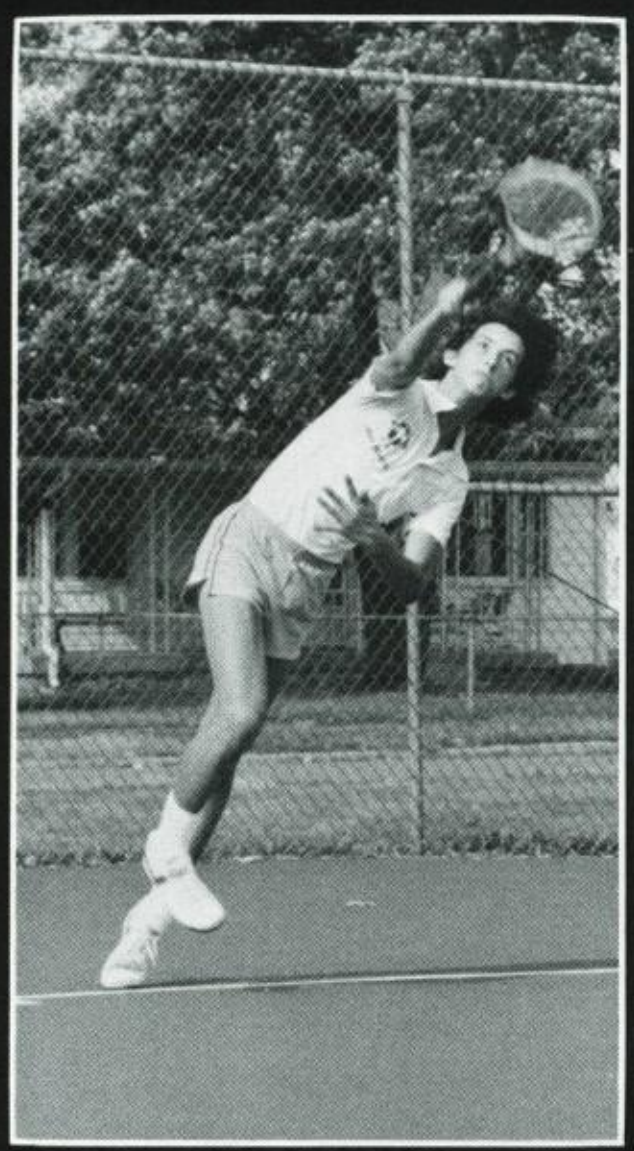
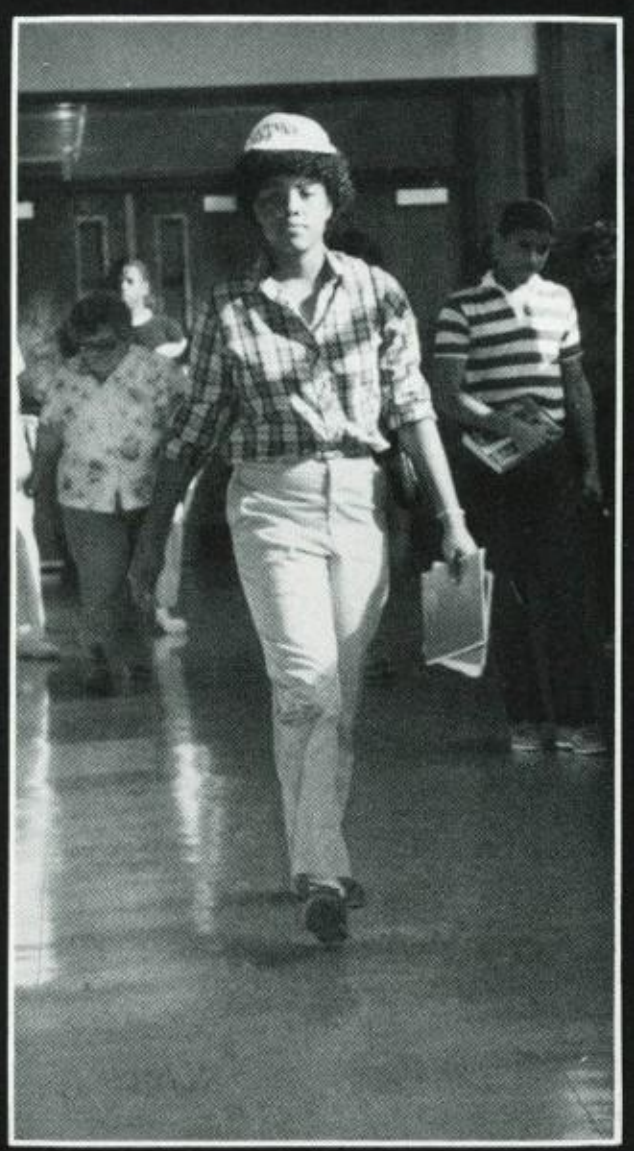
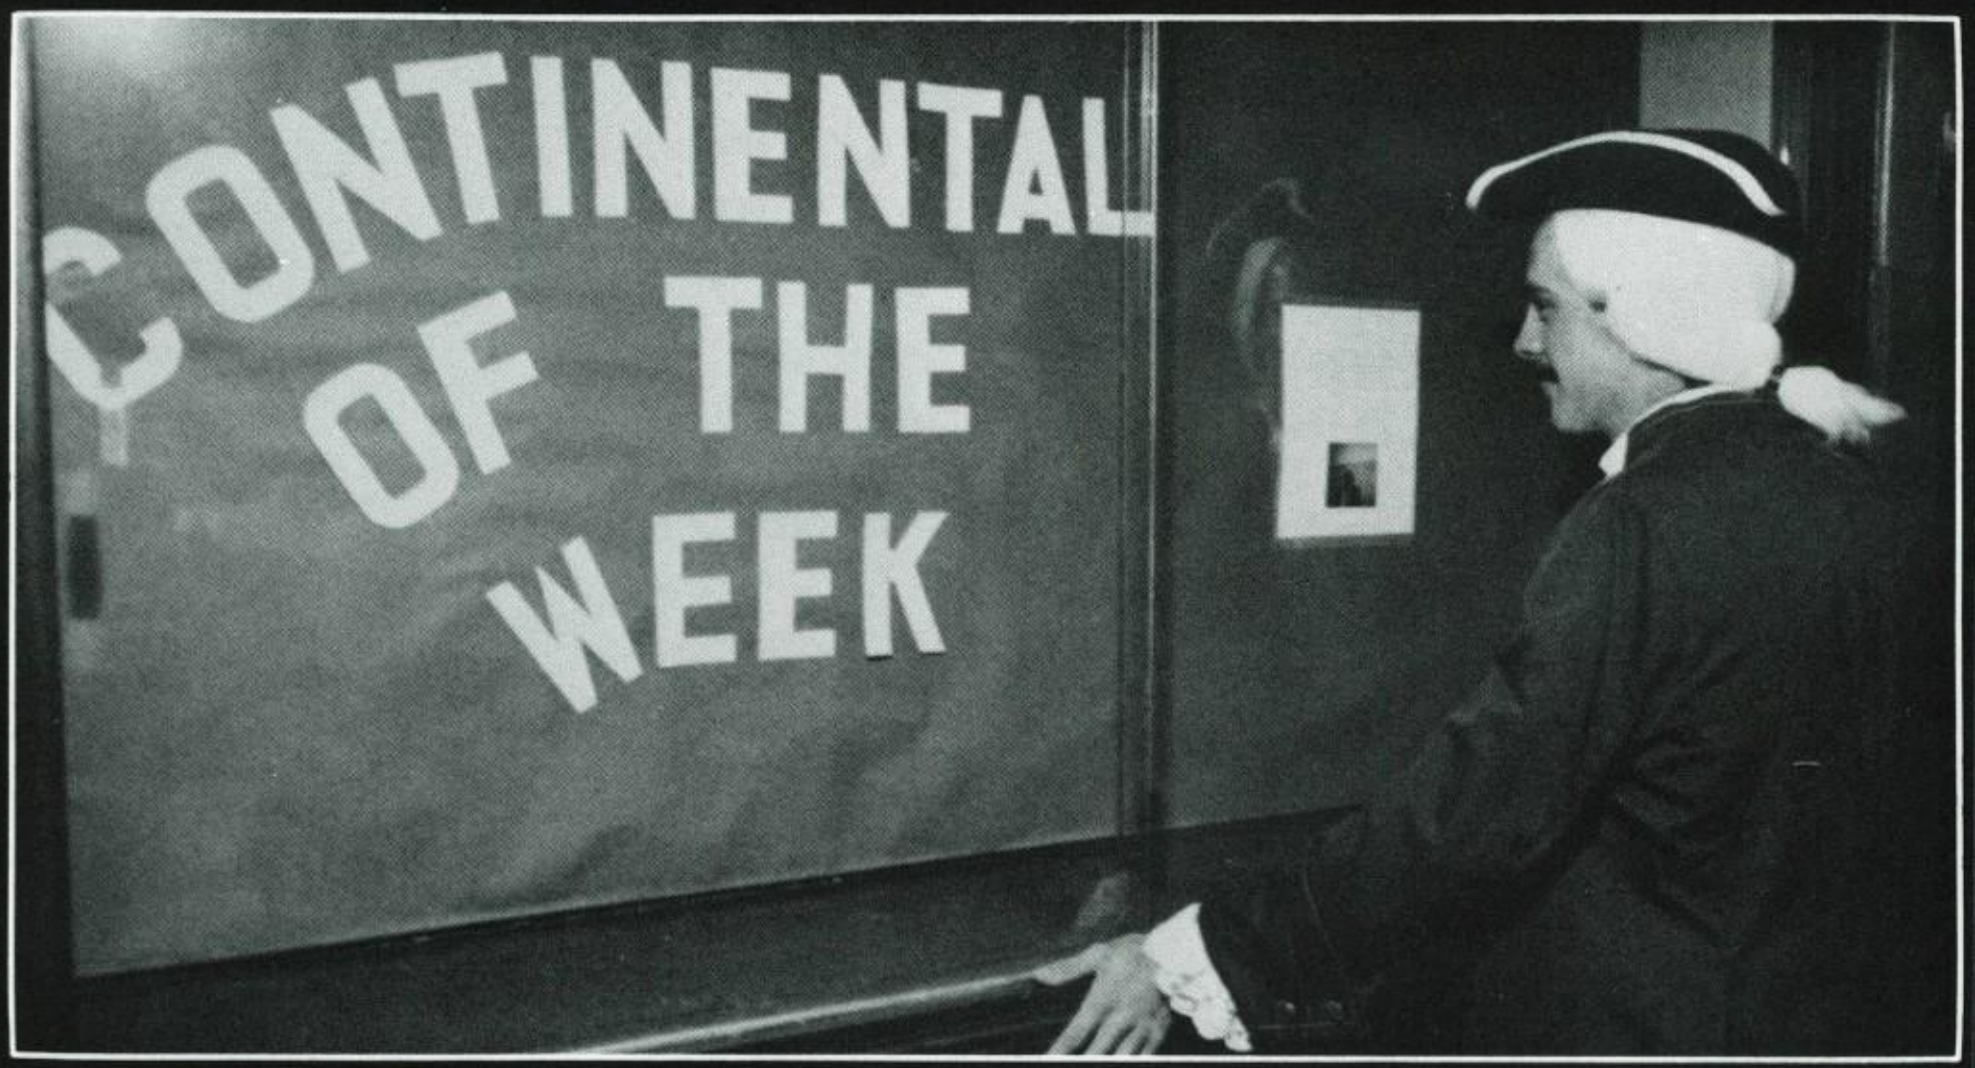
We cannot tell a lie . . .

No matter where we strive, whether it's in the classroom or on the field of athletic competition, we all want to be the Continental of the week.

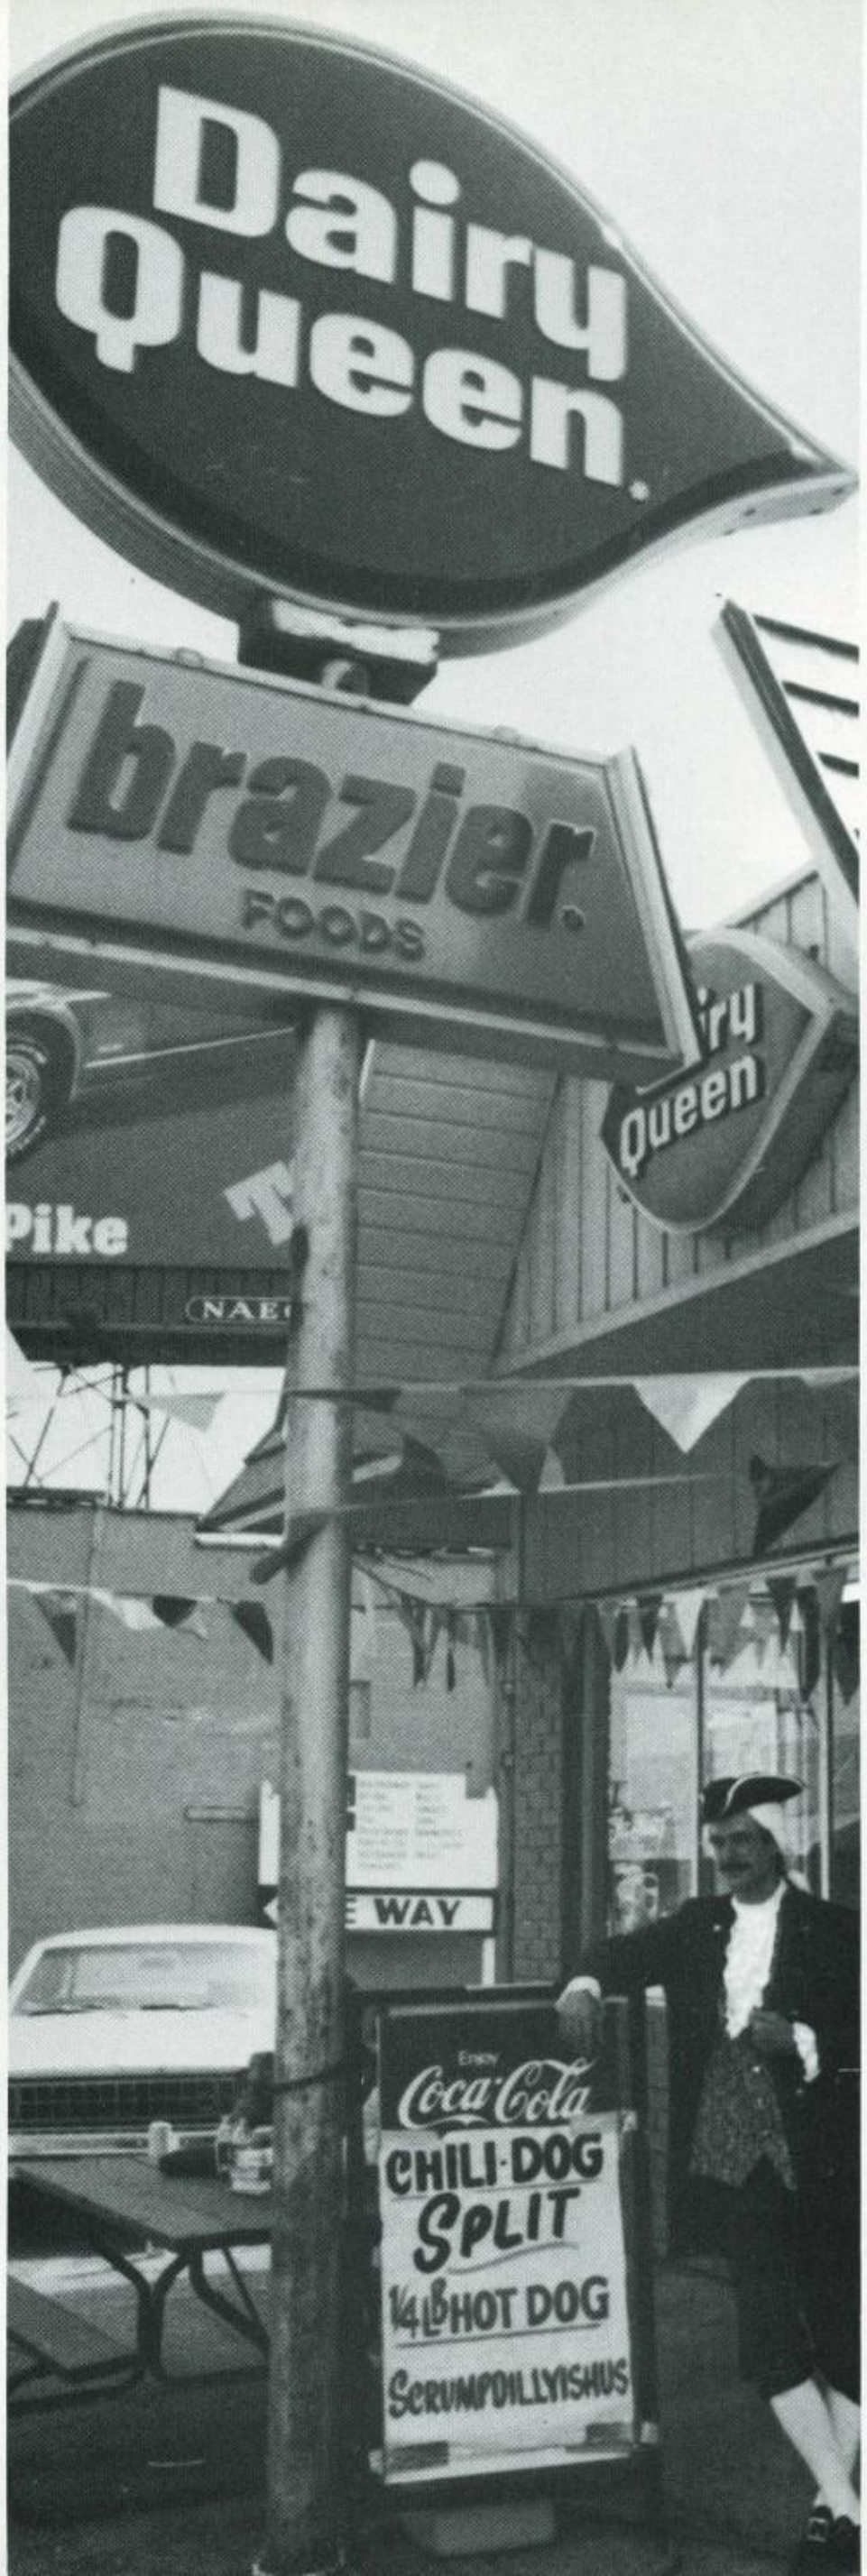








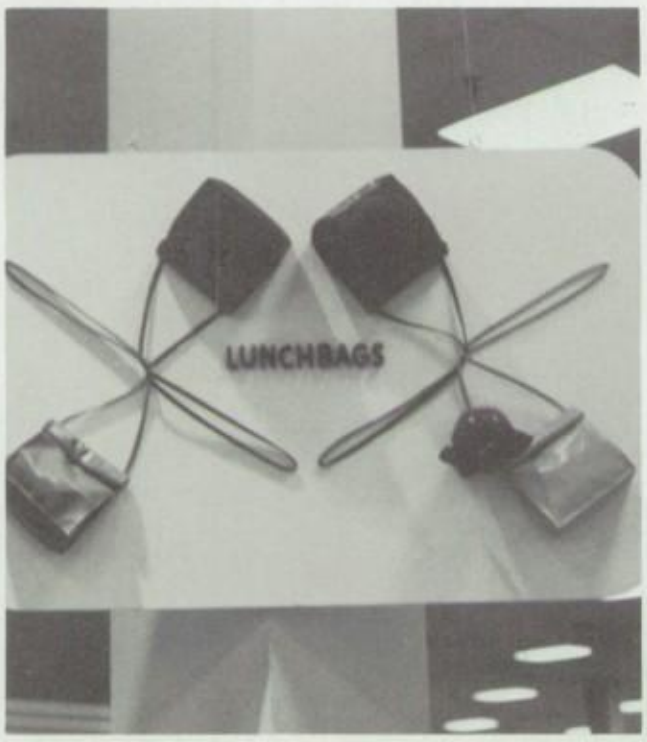
Student Life



There is life after school

It's no lie; Washington's students have discovered there is a life after school. For some students that life means a job — perhaps at the local grocery store, a burger outlet, or the pizza stop. For others, maybe it's time for a movie, a burger, or for heading to a party. Campus Life meetings offer another place for students to gather after school.

Sometimes it's just enough to get together with a friend or two for a Coke or Pepsi.



Right: Gina Nichols and Mark Neville on their way to the movies.

Students enjoy free time

It's English for success

An understanding of English is a necessary foundation for education. The English Department, under the guidance of Allen Sutherland, strived for improved student achievement in this very important subject. Besides the regular course of study which included work in literature, grammar, and composition, the department offered accelerated English courses, a college credit course in composition, etymology, journalism, newspaper, yearbook, and library experience. A main goal of the English Department this year was to improve scores on the Iowa (TAP) test.

The department gained one new member this year: Steve Sirmin who came from Forest Manor not only to teach English but to coach Girls Cross Country and Girls Basketball.

It was no lie that Washington students worked hard on grammar, vocabulary development, speech, and those inevitable term papers in English 5. We read Shakespeare and Mark Twain; we tried to expand our world of understanding.

Math is on the move

With many educational studies and experts calling for two years of high school math, the Indianapolis Public Schools installed computer labs in all the high schools. Washington's IBM Personal Computers arrived in Room 147 in August. Mrs. Agostino moved from her classroom to become director of the lab. Helping her oversee lab activities are aides Imhotep Adisa and Lan Bui.

Freshmen regularly used the lab for their computer literacy course taken in Orientation. Freshmen were also counseled to take two years of math.

This increased demand for math excellence in turn increased the size of our Math Department. Joining the staff this year were Kenneth Freeman and Ann Reis. Miss Reis also took on the job of assisting the coaching of Volleyball and Girls Track.

Our Math Department is on the move because the future demands it.

Students peering through microscopes are a common sight in the science classrooms. Or perhaps students reading through an experiment such as Stacy Brown and Trina Miller are doing will be seen in the labs.

Science copes with time loss

The fifty-five minute period added much needed time to most high school classes, but it took away that time from double-period classes such as science.

Science teachers and students particularly objected to this loss as it affected the setting up of lab work. With increased pressure to improve science scores and to interest more students into enrolling in science, the teachers were faced with less time to be with their pupils.

The next few years will probably bring some changes to high school science as the move is on to require more credits of science for graduation. Washington may see some new faces in the Science Department as well as more faces in the science classrooms.

One of the department's goals this year was to improve students' scores on the TAP Test. Department Head Mrs. Torain along with other members joined with the English Department in attending a workshop on improving scores.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT: Sitting: Mr. Short, Department Head Mrs. Torain, Miss Lyons, Standing: Mrs. Timchak, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Kassig.

History is in the headlines

History is an ever-changing and continuous process as the headlines this year have shown. Beirut, Grenada, Korea, START Talks, nuclear freeze were all terms in the headlines as well as in our classrooms. The start of the 1984 Presidential campaign also provided more current events to be discussed. The teachers in the Social Studies Department realize the necessity of examining not only the events of today but also the events of the past. So the classes offered by the department cover many periods in history. And with the addition of the half-credit 25-minute classes to students' schedules, the Social Studies Department added such courses as Current Events, Social Studies Skills, and Map Reading Skills. With the teaching of Psychology and Sociology, the department continues to meet the many needs of its students in our ever-changing world.

Foreign language skills are needed

Even though the English language is often seen as an international language, Americans are finally beginning to see the necessity to learn a foreign language. Several of the well-publicized educational studies that came out this year recommended foreign language as a high school requirement. And many colleges are also requiring language study as an entrance requirement. Students in Washington's classes learn not only the language of another country but also something of its culture and its people.

Business classes get new equipment

It wasn't only the Math Department and the Orientation classes that got to use the Computer Lab this year, the Business Education Department had several of its classes using the machines to improve their typing skills. Computer programs were able to tell students immediately how many errors they made, what the errors were, and how they compared with the other students. IBM word-processors were also available to students this year through the donation of a Washington graduate. The Business Department aims to keep its students up-to-date on their office skills with the best of the latest equipment.

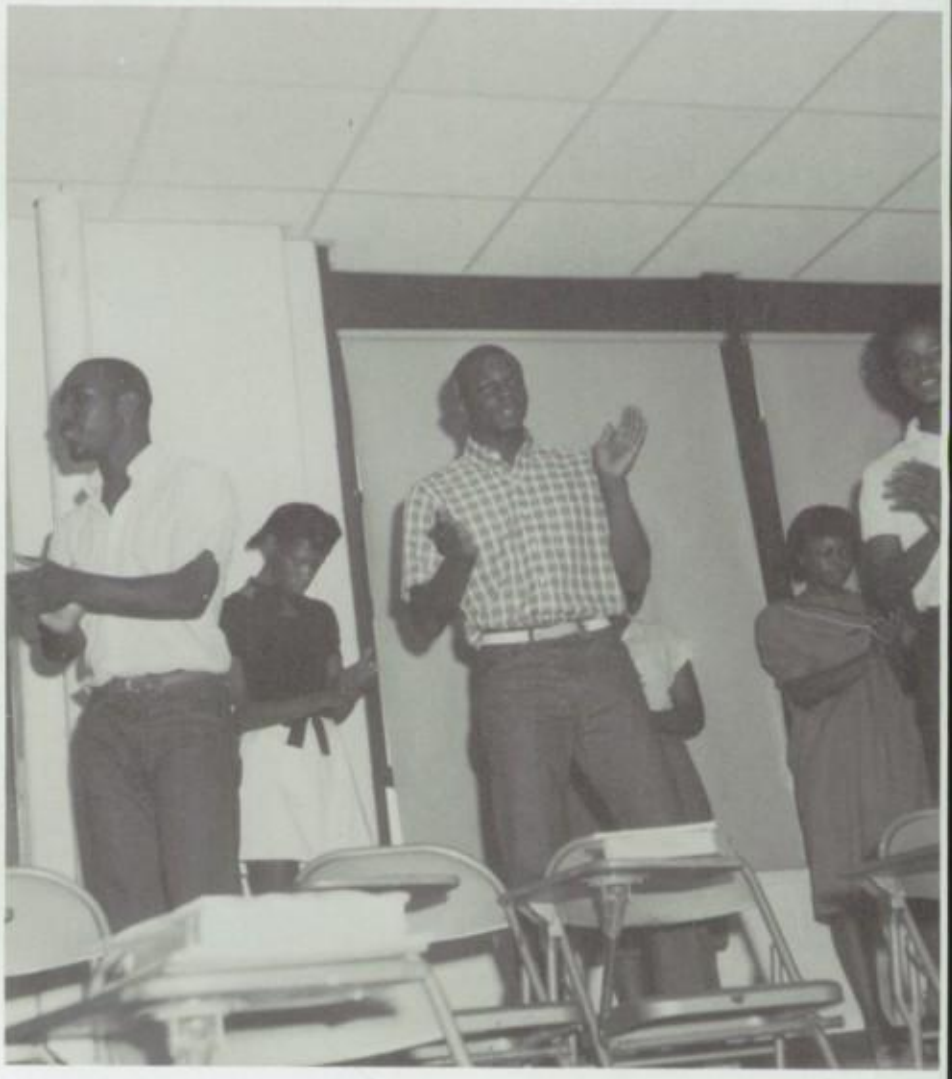
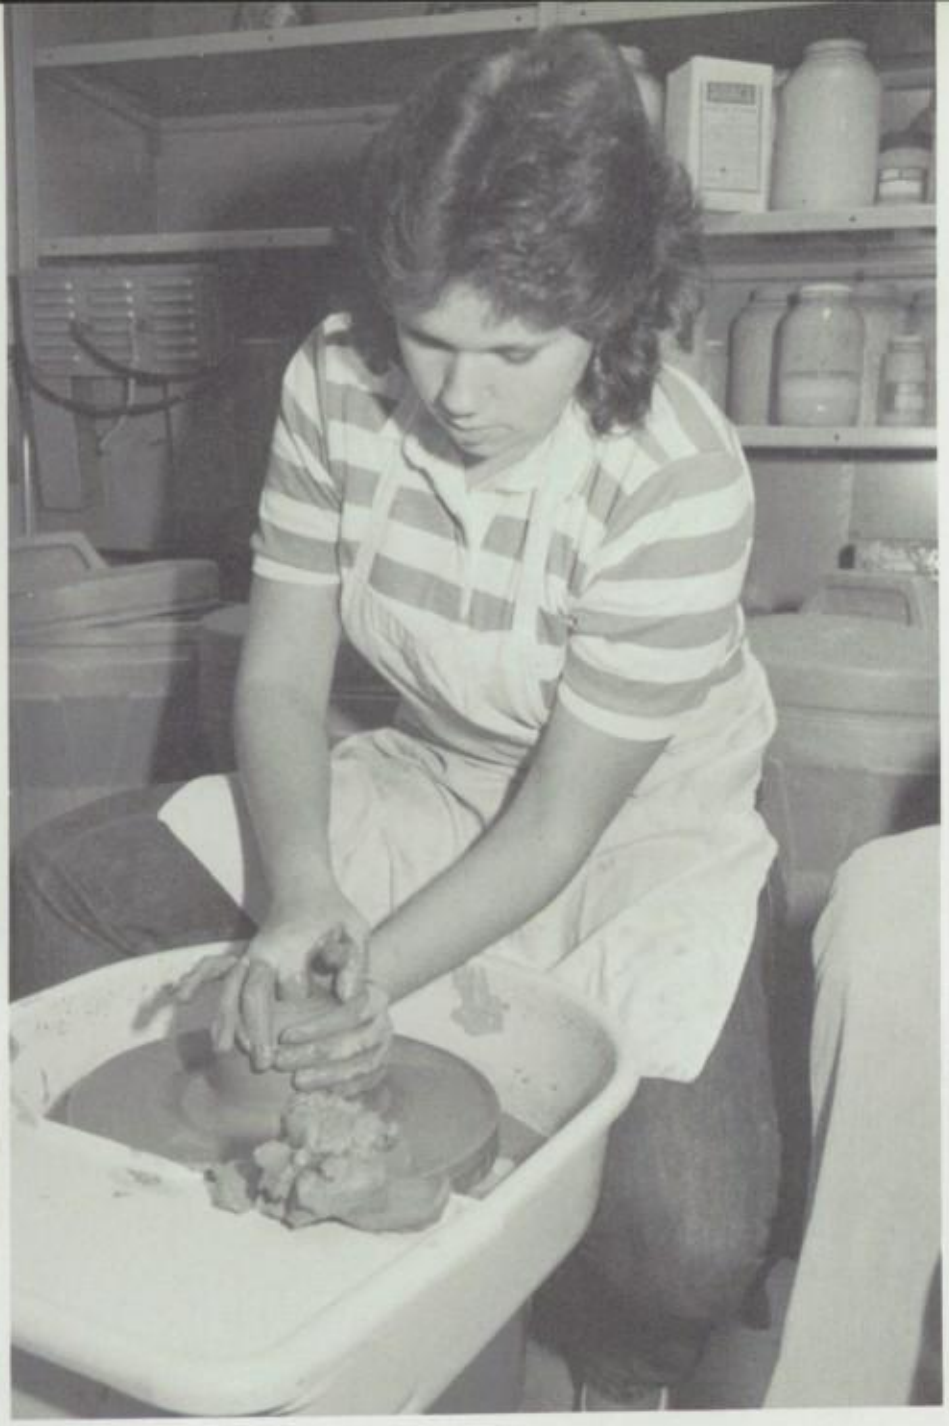
Music groups provide the melody

Whether at pep sessions, Christmas programs, or parades, our music groups give students the chance to perform.



Above: MUSIC DEPARTMENT: Mr. Hollandbeck and Department Head Mrs. Colvin. Top: Angel Henson and Kendra Price practice a piece.



Art Department wins recognition

Washington's art staff and students have won many awards for their work in the past. The award-winning has continued. Thomas Fouts and his teacher Mr. Bowers were recognized by the Indiana Department of Public Instruction for an art project on the Great Lakes Region. Thomas was only one of thirteen recognized in the county. The exhibit will travel through the Great Lake States and Canada.

ART DEPARTMENT: Sitting: Department Head Miss McConnell, Miss Overpeck. Standing: Mr. Bowers, Mr. Whitmore.

New courses are added

The Home Economics Department, like other departments used to double-periods, had to cope with a single period this year. It was more difficult to get projects started and completed in class, but such mini-courses as Looking Good and Embroidery were added to the curriculum.

Shop courses provide skills

Students learn practical skills necessary for both jobs and everyday living in shop classes. With the help of Mr. Williams and his partner-in-education, John McCray, from Detroit Diesel Allison, students built a barbecue grill. Others learn about cars, printing, and machines.

Physical fitness is in Keeping physically fit has become a national past-time. Running, aerobics, body-building are only a few of the activities regularly participated in by Americans. Continentals here at Washington learn about physical fitness in their gym classes, health classes, in the new Recreational Sports courses, and in R.O.T.C.

Joining the department as part of the R.O.T.C. staff this year is Master Sgt. Leonard Godfrey.

Achievement is important

For students enrolled in Special Education classes, self-confidence is one important goal, and achievement is one way of getting that self-confidence. The teachers in this department make it possible for their pupils to achieve no matter what their abilities.

New to the department this year is Alberta Davis who came from Tech where she taught both business and Special Education classes.

Special people who help

What would the Continentals do without certain staff members who help us outside the classroom? There was Mr. Steinberg in the Media Center always ready to help, and in Room 209 were Miss Whitehead and our great counselors.

Activities

Sharing time in clubs

Clubs, groups, and honor organizations are ways for Washington High School students to share common interests and goals.

While students chosen for Girls and Boys State, the Lilly Scholarship Program, the Wabash Lab, and the National Honor Society must maintain a certain grade-point average and be recommended by the faculty, Washington's other groups are open to any interested student.

Whether it's a tryout for the Brain Game Team, joining the Freedoms Foundation, or joining one of the departmental clubs, extracurricular activities are ways for students and teachers to get to know each other a little better.

Teams sizzle at start

It will be a long time before Cross Country team members and coaches forget the season of 1983. With school starting in August, practice too began early, and that meant running in 90° heat. Both teams exerted great effort. The girls team gained a 4-3 meet record, while the boys team finished 4-5. Award winners were Honor Dixon, Kim Garrett, Michelle Eggert, Jennifer Heath, Candy Sadler, Lisa Schanken, Sherri Taylor, Chris Campbell, Craig Campbell, Miguel Mockabee, Ira Rhodes, Dave Sfreddo, Troy Taylor, and Anthony Wellington.

Tennis Coach Steve Tolin had only three returning lettermen on his 1-11 team for the 1983-84 season. This meant tough, often disappointing matches for team members. This lack of depth is what Coach Tolin felt hurt his team the most. However, as the season progressed, the players gained more confidence and strength in their game.

Next year will see the return of all seven team members: Jay Campbell, Calvin Davidson, Perry Elliott, Joe Ford, Pete Johnson, Tony McClelland, and Anthony Poston. Perry Elliott was chosen Most Valuable Player. A better team record is the hoped-for goal for next season.

Continentals roll to #2 in state

As numerous reporters, coaches, and players remarked, Washington was the state's number one football team in Class AAAA for 13½ games. We did not come in second until the last half of the November 19 championship game against Mishawaka Penn.

But the runner-up title was only one of the many achievements for Coach Springer's team this year. The Continentals played and won the most games in one season; a defensive record was set that allowed only 30 points during the regular season; and, of course, we were the City, Cluster, Regional, and Semistate Champs.

It was a team of heart and determination that fought its way to the State Finals. It was a team that will be remembered for a long time.

It was certainly no lie that the Varsity Football team had a great year. Individual players contributed to this success. Glenn Carpenter led the team with 23 touchdowns, and Tony Weeden was second with 16 touchdowns. Glenn also earned the highest yardage — 1446 yards with 254 carries. In pass receiving, Tyrone Chandler received 17 passes with 303 yards and 2 touchdowns. Chris Petree received 16 passes with 213 yards and 2 touchdowns. Quarterback James Overstreet was named Most Valuable Player. He completed 45 passes for 861 yards. Harvey Storms led the team in tackles with 124. Lawrence Colbert had 8 interceptions.

The team and coaches deserved all the awards and praise they received on their march to the state championship game.

Team gets new coach

This year William Perry joined the Washington coaching staff as freshman basketball coach. The team started their season later than usual because of the long football season. Unfortunately, it was a losing season for the players as they struggled to find that winning combination. For freshman squads, it's always a rebuilding year.

James Williams was named Most Valuable Player while Steve Rutherford was chosen Most Improved Player. Coach Perry remarked, "It was a long season, but we all hung together . . . we gave it our best shot and can look in the mirror in the morning and say we did it."

Coaches and teams have difficult year

It was a long year for both coaches and team members as they coped with a frustrating, losing season. It is sometimes difficult keeping team morale high even when winning through a long basketball season; it is even more difficult when losing. The Junior Varsity team was led by Coach Joe Pearson while Coach Basil Sfreddo guided the Varsity squad. Brian Burgess led the Varsity team in rebounding, and in freethrows John Robinson was the leader.

Season is a struggle

Both the girls Varsity and Reserve basketball teams had losing seasons. It was a struggle for the teams as they often battled against stronger and more experienced teams. The Reserve squad ended the season 0-15 while the Varsity earned a 2-16 record. With several returning members, the teams hope to win more games next year.

On the Varsity squad, Lisa Bledsoe was named the Most Improved Player while Sonia Furnish received the Sportsmanship Award.

Both teams had new coaches this year. Steve Sirmin, who came from Forest Manor, took on the Varsity coaching while Mrs. Donna Green, a Washington graduate, assisted with the Reserve team.

This year's Girls Swimming Team finished the season with a 2-7 record. Five of the team's swimmers placed 4th or better in the City Meet, while this year's most valuable swimmer, Beth Edwards, along with Gina Nichols went to place in the sectional. In the City Meet it was Beth Edwards in 2nd place in the 500-freestyle, and Gina Nichols in 2nd in the 100-breaststroke. Laurie Sherwood, Beth Edwards, and Mindy Edwards earned 4th place finishes in other events.

Swimmers set new marks

This has been a record-setting year for the Boys Swim Team. In seven of eleven events during the season, new school records were achieved. At the City Meet, Senior Bryan Sergent took 1st in diving while John Butler and Robert Workman came in 2nd and 3rd respectively in the 100 meter backstroke. The team also scored the most points ever in a City Meet — 206 — and achieved our highest placed city finish — 3rd.

Record holders this season are Bryan Sergent, Robert Workman, John Butler, Alberto Chavez, John Smith, Bric Shires, Lincoln Kilty, and Allie Ligon. Coach Shaw named Bryan Sergent Most Valuable Swimmer and Alberto Chavez as Most Improved.

Bryan Sergent went on to the Sectionals in his event of diving as did the Medley Relay team.

Washington's 1983-84 wrestling team again produced several champions. Topping all others is senior David Hammond who won the city title at 185 lbs, and then went on to capture the sectional, regional, and semistate titles at 177 lbs. His record stands at a remarkable 31-2-1 for the season. David was also the National Junior Olympic champ at 191 lbs. in freestyle wrestling and the Greco-Roman champ. Also on the varsity level is Jan Joquin at 98 lbs. Jan was city and sectional runner-up. He also came in first at three of the season's wrestling tournaments.

On the junior varsity level, 185 lb. Sean Bible and heavyweight David Dale also brought home city champ titles, while 177 lb. Scott Clark was runner-up.

It's one stride ahead

The girls 1984 track team is trying to better its last year's city standing of fourth. The team has much in its favor considering four members competed in the state meet last year: Nita Gates, Marcie Stewart, Stacy Brown, and Frances Keller. Senior Nita Gates also placed first in the city last year in her event of high jump.

Coach Darlene Johnston feels the only difficulty she has in coaching a track team is that she has trouble spending enough time with each individual team member. She believes the team will definitely do better this year. Assisting Miss Johnston in coaching the team is Ann Reis — a new addition to the Continental teaching and coaching staff.

Sophomore Bonnie Adams practices her long jump to better her skills for the upcoming meets.

City, Sectional Champs hope to repeat

Last year's city and Southport sectional champs, the Washington Continentals, hope to win the number one spot again in 1984. The trackmen have been the city champs four out of the last five years. Coach Stahlhut feels the team has the ability to go on to the state. Returning track members Glenn Carpenter, Lawrence Colbert, James Jackson, Tony Weeden, and Stan Williams bring the needed experience and talent to give the team a good chance to make it to the State Finals. Stan Williams not only brought in first place finishes last year in the low hurdles and relay, but set new city records as well.

With fifteen returning letter winners, Coach Stahlhut is optimistic about the season. However, even with all the talent and experience of his team, he still feels the most difficult aspect of his coaching is teaching a team member to take responsibility for himself and his performance.

Coach Stahlhut is assisted by Leonard Cannon and new staff member and coach Stephen Sirmin.

Jeff Hill and Robert Sadler make their moves on the track as they near the finish tape.

1984 May Queen is Tracie Williams

An annual event held at Washington High School is Awards Day. This is presided over by the May Queen and her court. These seven young ladies are chosen by the Senior Class from a list of girls who have maintained an A or B average throughout their high school years.

On May 23, 1984, Queen Tracie Williams led her court consisting of Amy Davis, Patricia Hill, Mary Miller, Teresa Norris, Lynn Reynolds, and Jacqueline Robertson into the auditorium for the ceremonies attended by staff, parents, and honored students.

Awards Day consists of a morning session where underclassmen are recognized for their achievemtns and an afternoon session for the seniors and their accomplishments. Awards Day is a time for reflection and satisfaction for the seniors as only days remain before graduation on May 30; it is one of the last days when they can be together and remember.

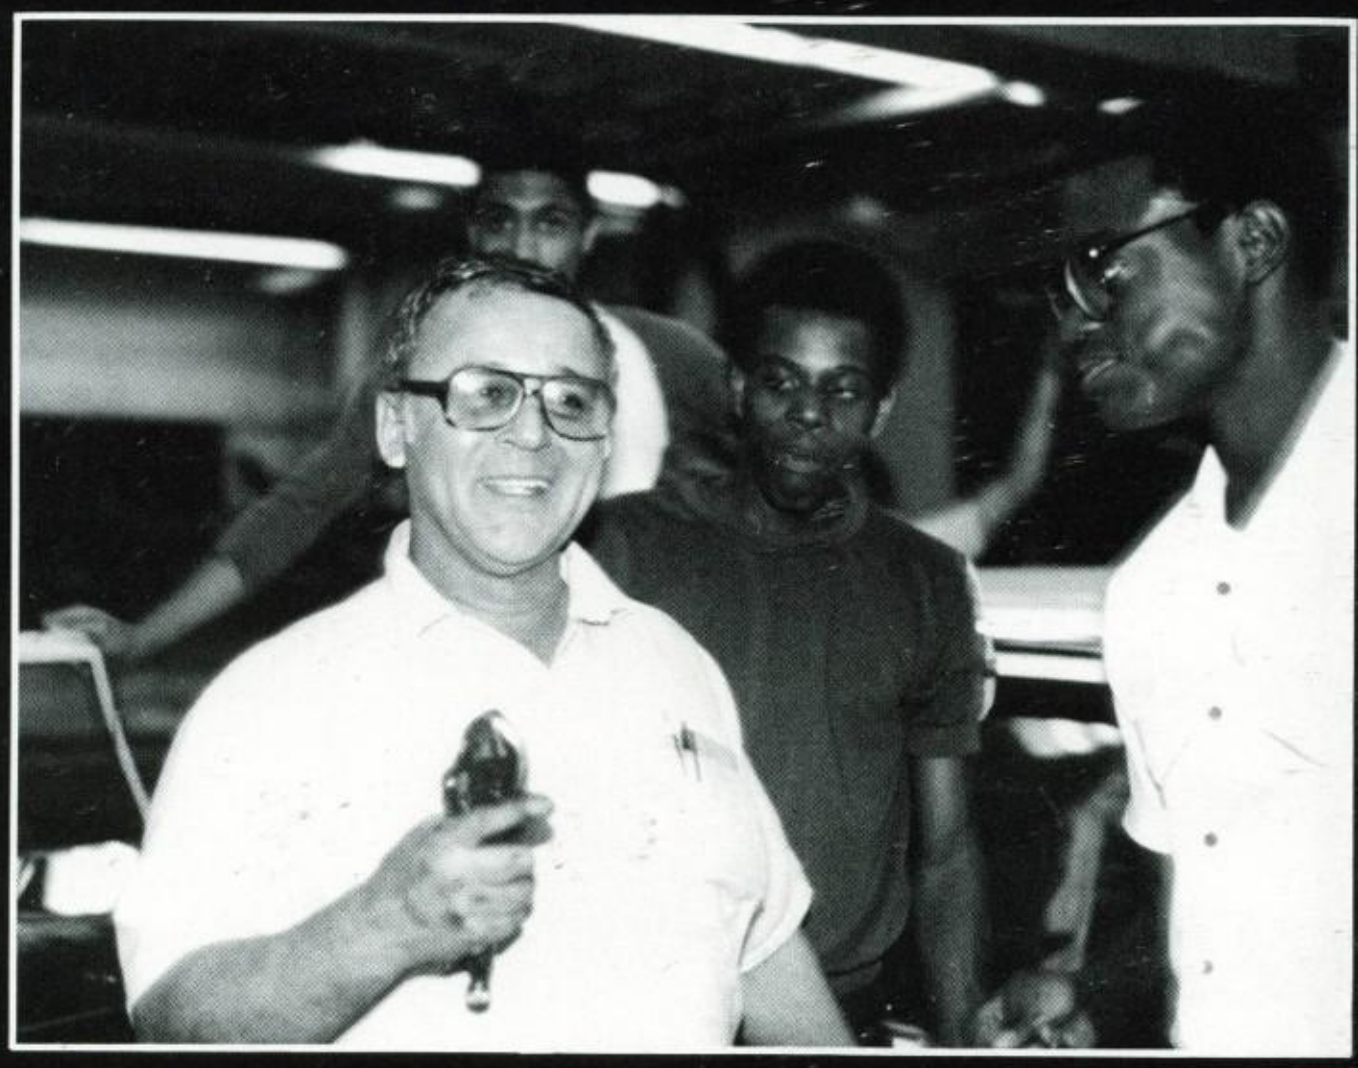
We cannot tell a lie . . .

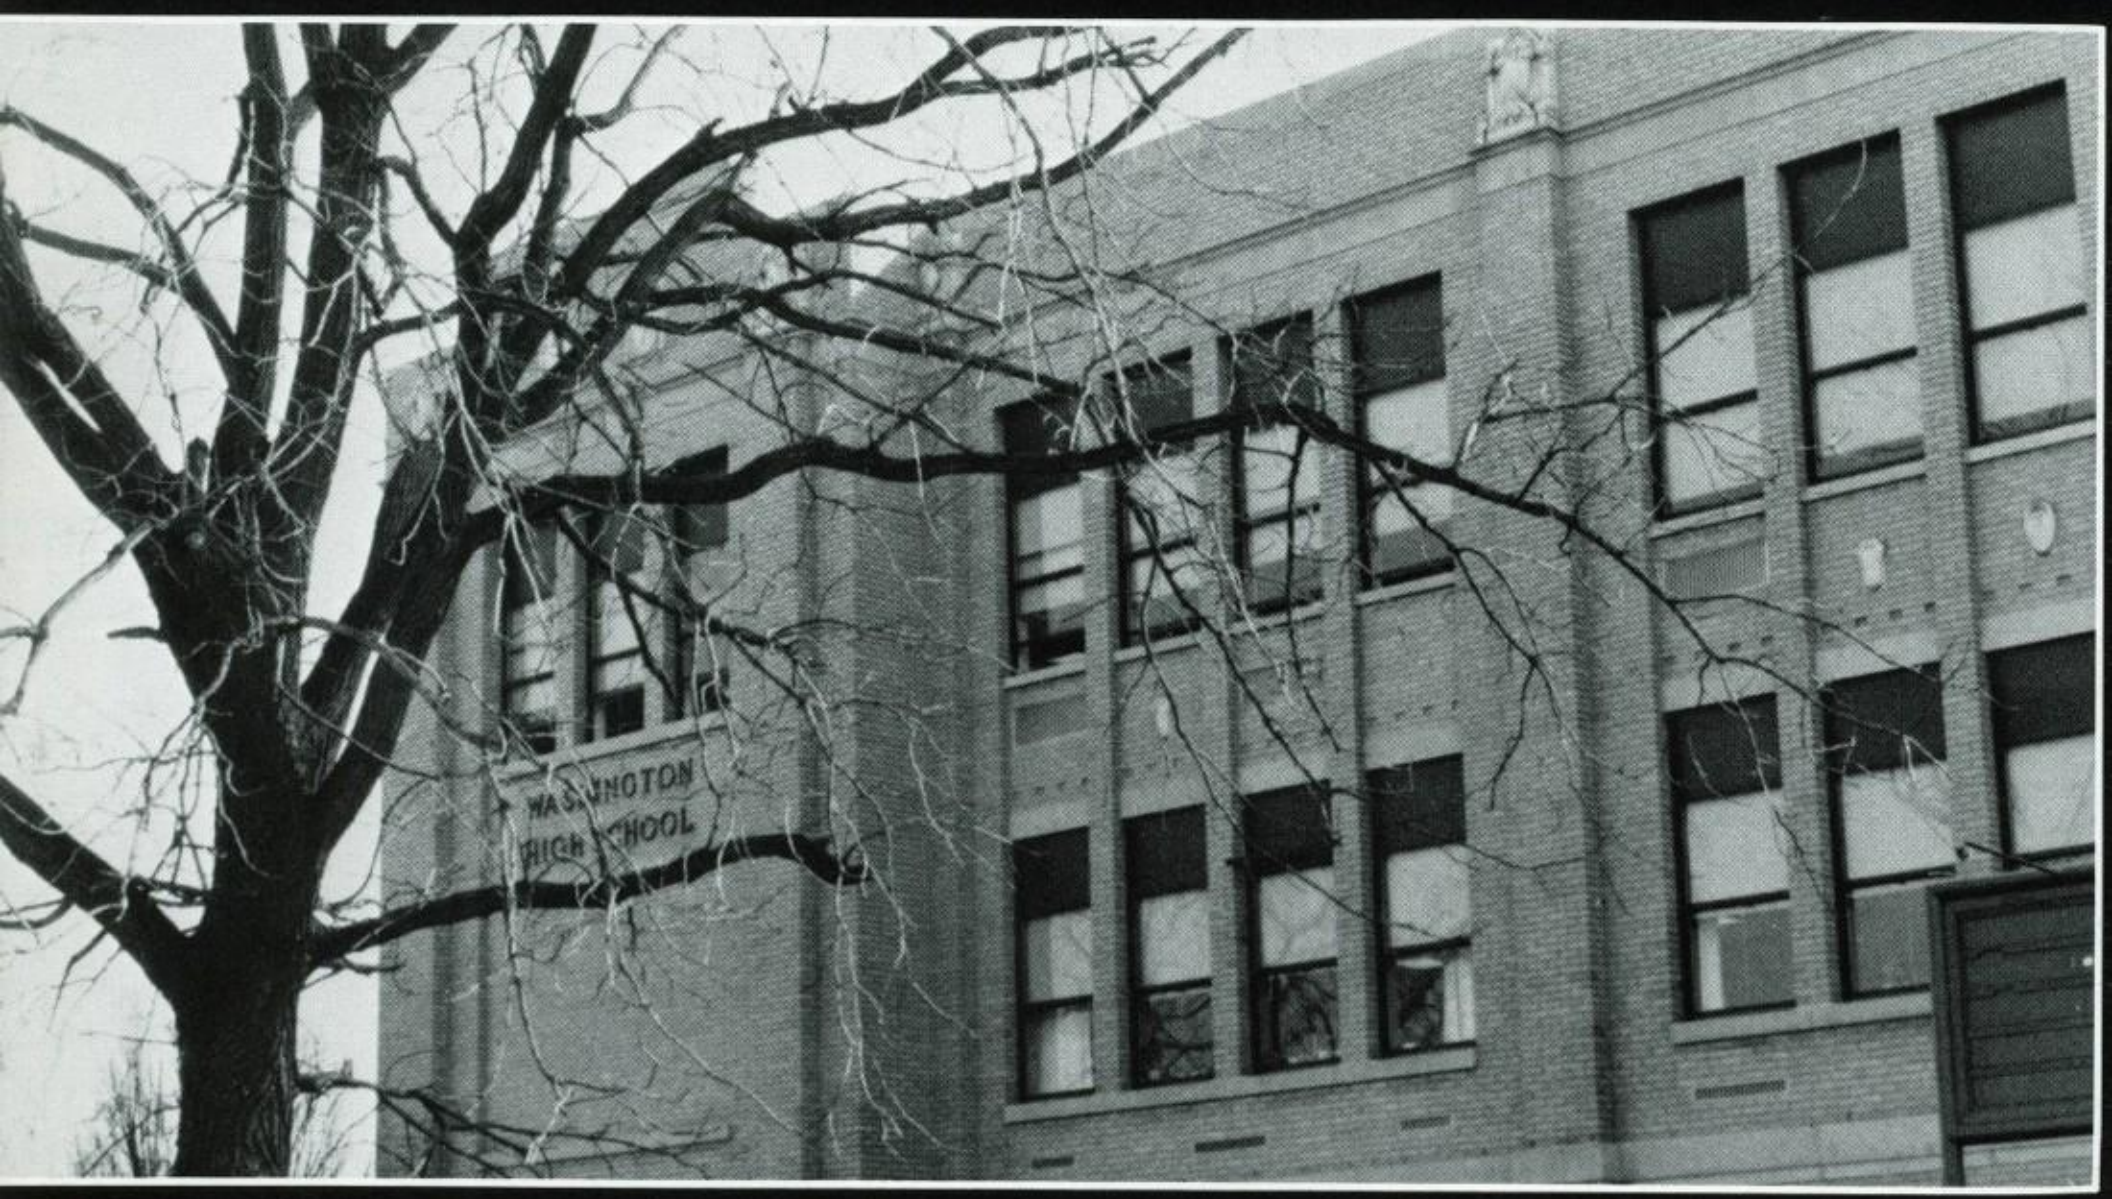
Whether we're a senior in the class of 1984, a junior, sophomore, or freshman, we are ALL Continentals. Whether we're in the classroom working to gain a new skill, in the school band at a pep session, or at a dance, we are ALL members of the Washington High School family.



Dan Malone

Dan Malone, a member of Washington's Industrial Arts Department, died on January 17, 1984 after a long illness. He came to our school in September, 1979, after being at Tech for ten years.

Students and faculty alike will remember his friendliness and helpfulness. He will be missed.



Yes, the 1984 POST is finally finished! We wish to express our thanks to Herff Jones Yearbooks and their representative Larry Glaze for their expert guidance in producing our book. Special thanks must also go to ROOT Photographers and especially Dick Dickus for their endless cooperation in covering events and meeting our deadlines. And a special "Thank You" to the G.W.H.S. faculty for their patience with the Yearbook Staff for disrupting classes for pictures.

We want to send an additional thanks to Miss Davis for her help and guidance and to Mrs. McLeish for being there whenever we have needed her.

Patty McGraw, Editor, and Yearbook Staff
